

Editorial

We with this first issue of JAFS in the 2017 publishing year are delighted to continue to serve you with our educative, informative and entertaining journal. In this issue you find such interesting articles as The Feed Value of Toasted Mucuna Sloanei Meal on the Performance, Haematology and Blood Biochemistry of Broiler Finisher Birds; Effect of Storage Temperature on the Motility of West African Dwarf Ram Semen; Morphometric Evaluation of Arbor Acre Parent Stock Broilers Reared in South-South Nigeria; Technical Efficiency and Profitability of Backyard Poultry Farming in Ika South Local Government Area, Delta State, Nigeria; and Farmers' Perception on the Effects of Climate Change on Groundnut Production in Obi Local Government Area of Benue.

We specially thank our articulate reviewers and our erudite authors for the different role they play in ensuring that we faithfully serve the reading public. The progress we make is a shared responsibility. Thank you very much and note that your valued feedback is welcome.

Augustine Odinakachukwu Ejiogu PhD
odiiejiogu@yahoo.com

Editor